

Misleading Announcements

It has come to the attention of NSP that some organizations argue that they have an agreement with our journal, Appl. Math. Inf. Sci. to publish special issues and are collecting papers instead of our journal. This is totally not true ! For that reason, an official action will be taken against any such misleading announcements.

In this note, we confirm that, at the moment we have no agreement with any conference or any organization for publishing new special issues in our journal. Also, all papers that will be published in our journals, including special issues papers, should be submitted online through our web site only, www.naturalspublishing.com

Moreover, we would like to inform that, all submitted papers will be peer-reviewed according to the NSP standards, the paper is assigned to at least two referees, and according to the reports, a final decision is made.

Here is the only list of conferences that we have an agreement with them
